Santa Rosa Symphony Youth Ensembles

Your contribution assists members of the four Santa Rosa Symphony Youth Ensembles (SRSYE) to share their gift of music with others. Through these programs musicians from across Sonoma County, ranging in age from 7 to 19, collaborate with one another and receive training from professional musicians. This prepares them to perform for over 4000 elementary school children in free concerts, put on a 7 concert youth ensemble series, and participate in other community performance partnerships each year. Many continue to play in college and even go on to perform professionally.
